

POSITION AVAILABLE

Project Archaeologist

---

PAL, a leading cultural resource management firm in New England, seeks an experienced Project Archaeologist for supervision of a range of CRM projects, from assessments to data recovery. The Project Archaeologist (PA) is responsible for on-site management and quality control of field activities, report writing, and supervising field staff. The Project Archaeologist reports to a Principal Investigator.

Key requirements include:

- M.A. in archaeology, anthropology, or a related field
- Three to five years of experience supervising field survey, excavation, and mitigation projects
- Strong research, field, and cultural material identification skills in the eastern United States, preferably in the Northeast
- Excellent organizational, written, and verbal communication skills
- Highly proficient orienteering and mapping skills with GPS, and/or total station/transit
- A valid driver's license, ability to relocate to southern New England, and ability to travel throughout the Northeast
- Ability to pass a background and security check as required by clients

Located in the greater Providence area, PAL offers competitive pay and a comprehensive benefits package. We seek motivated self-starters who are willing to work hard, communicate effectively, and make a strong contribution to a professional team. Qualified applicants should send a letter of interest, resume, and references to Kristen Heitert at kheitert@palinc.com.
